

◆ LEVEL: Graduate, Postgraduate

Contemporary analysis of Gender Studies under the light of Feminisms since Abya Yala.

Historical and legal tensions and epistemic ruptures along the 21st century.

Keywords: gender studies, Latin America, legal categories, decolonial knowledges.

GOALS

- ➔ To introduce conceptual revisions related to the gender/feminist perspective as analytical tools for the development of research works in different fields of knowledge.
- ➔ To stimulate interrogation practices related to legal discourse and knowledge from the view of the epistemological criticism proposed by decolonial feminism.
- ➔ To make possible viable epistemological constructions based on decolonial feminism.
- ➔ To know and understand the fundamental landmarks within the feminist debate in Latin America in relation to the emerging conditions in the 21st century.
- ➔ To analyze and interpret discourses, knowledges, feelings and legal practices from Latin American decolonial and feminist perspectives.

◆ Mode: Hybrid

◆ Teaching Load: 40 hours (25 hours in-person; 10 hours synchronic distance learning; 5 hours reading and writing of final paper)

◆ Lecturers: Érica Montaña; Paola Rodríguez.

Course Languages:
Spanish.

Contact:

movilidad@unlpam.edu.ar

UNLPam